FOR A YEAR AT LEAST

The Big Car Ferries Will Make Trips to Benton Harbor from the Wisconsin Side.

THE CAUSE OF THE DELAY.

It Was Because the Big Four Had Not Properly Advertised the Arrangement.

Whether any freight of any consequence is offered or not the big car ferries will ply between Benton Harbor and Manitowoc for the coming year. The owners of the ferry boats have a contract with the Big Four railroad company which charters the large transports for one year.

Captain Dunn, of the tug S. M. Fischer, said this morning that the delay on the Wisconsin side of the lake was not because of any question whether another trip should be made or not, but because no freight was offered. The Big Four company had failed to advertise their transfer arrangement and the western railroads knew only what they read in the newspapers. Now a tariff card has been issued and circulars sent out inviting the attention of the western roads to the saving of time and money in shipping via the "Wisconsin and Michigan railroad," the only railroad that runs entirely across the trackless water.

The captain declared that there would be no lack of business and instead of doing all the transferring with one tug and the two transports that the tug J. C. Ames and two more transports will be put on the route at once. The tug Ames is larger than the Fischer but it is not quite as powerful.

Transport No. 4 which arrived here yesterday morning will leave tonight in tow of the Fischer. At 2 o'clock this afternoon but two cars of freight were on the Big Four track waiting transfer.

It is the intention of the company that the ferries leave Manitowoc every Monday and Thursday.

LACK OF MATERIAL.

Has Hampered Work of Twin City Telephone Company.

The Twin City Telephone company has been annoyed considerably in extending its lines by delay in the arrival of poles. New subscribers have been acquired so rapidly that the company's material became exhausted. Material is now on hand and the 'phones will be put in at once.

The company hopes to have Water-veit extension completed by next Thursday and a week later, it is expected, the line will be completed to South Haven.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Lansing Building and Loan Association Invests Here.

Lot 1 in block 3, lots 17 and 18 in block 2, lots 22 and 23 in block 4, of the Benton Harbor Improvement association, sixth addition, Benton Harbor, were sold this morning at the court house under a mortgage held by the Capital Investment Building and Loan association of Lansing, for $3,400. The property was bid in by the mortgagees. The amount of the mortgage was $5,500 but a payment of over $2,000 had been made.

The property includes the dwelling houses constructed for the use of employees of the Buss machine works and is located a short distance from the factory.

WINNING FAME.

Two Benton Harbor Young Men Distinguish Themselves.

Justin W. McEachren, employed on the editorial staff of the Chicago Evening Post, and Leonard Mitchell, an actor of more than ordinary ability, both having earlier in their lives been residents of this city and having innumerable friends here, have sold their play entitled "Under the Cross," for $6,000. The piece was entirely their own work and possessed so much merit that its sale was readily made.

Encouraged by the success achieved in their first efforts as playwrights, McEachren and Mitchell, who write under the name of "McLeo," immediately set to work on another play which they have given the name of "Apple Blossoms," a pretty pastoral story which promises to win its way to the heart of the theatrical world. The play is completed and will be read before Charles Frohman, the great theatrical manager, and the Chicago press club, August 15. Mr. Frohman is desirous of purchasing the play and a deal will probably be closed before he departs from Chicago. The authors ask $10,000 for it or a royalty of $20 per night.

Messrs. McEachren and Mitchell continue to cling with fond memories to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph and there is a possibility of their building a summer home on the St. Joseph river next season. They have an option on 12 acres of land on the river bank three and one-half miles from St. Joseph. If they build they will invest at least $5,000.

Mr. Mitchell, who has spent an outing of several weeks here, will leave tomorrow for Chicago.

HE WOULDN'T PAY.

And Dr. Keith Came Near Being Put Off a Street Car.

"Grandpa" Keith is going to have one of the conductors on the electric car line fined because the conductor threatened to put him off the car if he did not pay his fare. The "con" was a new man and didn't know the "doctor" was the father-in-law of the president of the road and was not supposed to pay for his transportation.

"You'll either get off the car or pay your fare," insisted the conductor.

"I won't do either," said the "doctor" with firmness.

"You will, I say," and the conductor reached for the bell rope.

The "doctor" saw things were getting serious and he told the conductor who he was. The conductor doubted the veracity of the "doctor," and insisted that unless there was someone on the car who would identify him he must get off. Fortunately an acquaintance of the venerable man was aboard and he advised the conductor that the "doctor" never paid his fare on Mr. Bean's line.

The old man was greatly wrought up and expressed the purpose of having the conductor fired.

AMONG THE CRIMINALS.

Peter Peterson Has a Picture of His Sweetheart.

When Peter Peterson, awaiting trial in the circuit court on the charge of attempting to murder his sweetheart, Miss Eliza Harris, grows weary of his existence in the county jail he goes to his cell and from the inside pocket of his coat draws forth a photograph. He gazes intently upon the sweet, girlish face that smiles upon him from the picture, and for two hours finds entertainment in holding in his hands the faded and much-soiled photograph. It is the portrait of the girl he loves—the girl whose heart he attempted to pierce with a bullet. It is the likeness of Miss Eliza Harris. His own likeness appears in the photograph. It was taken when their love was untrammelled by jealousy.

Edward Finley, the insane prisoner at the county jail, has been released from solitary confinement and enjoys the freedom of the corridor in the main part of the jail upstairs with the other prisoners. He has greatly improved and his conversation is quite rational. He says his real name is Loreller, but further than this he refuses to impart any information of a personal nature.

J. W. Allison, Paul Borne and M. Woodward paid fines of $1 each and costs for riding their bicycles upon the sidewalks within the St. Joseph city limits. Their cases were heard before Justice St. Clair.

Thomas Mohawk, colored, charged with assault, will have his hearing before Justice Cady tomorrow.

John Burns pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness before Justice Baldrey this morning and was fined $2 and costs which he paid.

Edward Shipley and Charles C. Hall, tried by jury before Justice Baldrey yesterday on complaint of committing an assault and battery upon Emanuel Brunbaugh, were acquitted, the jury arriving at a verdict on very short notice.

Three "drunks" were sentenced to five hours on the stone pile by Chief of Police Sterns this morning.

BULLOCK STEPS OUT.

He Preached His Farewell Sermon to His Chicago Flock Last Sunday.

FORMERLY HELD FORTH HERE.

Says His Resignation Was Voluntary but His Congregation Maintains Differently.

Of Rev. Charles S. Bullock, a former pastor of a church in this city, the Chicago Times Herald of last Sunday says: Rev. Charles Seymour Bullock, preacher, editor and politician, will deliver his farewell sermon in Oakwoods Union church, Champlain avenue and Sixty-fifth street, tomorrow night, after an erratic career of two years and a half in that pulpit.

Mr. Bullock is a young man who formerly held a pastorate somewhere in Michigan, and later entered the general field of evangelical work, finally landing in Oakwoods church, where he seems to have displayed a keen faculty for keeping at loggerheads with his congregation. He says his resignation is voluntary on his part; that he has accepted a call to Maywood, where he will begin preaching the first Sunday in September.

But to those who have watched Mr. Bullock's career since he became pastor of his church his resignation was not a great surprise, as it is only the natural outcome of the chain of events that has made his pastorate somewhat conspicuous.

Two years ago Mr. Bullock affiliated with the Civic Federation and was placed on the committee on morals. He also was made secretary of the bureau of charities for his district. And, with these two offices as a basis, he started out for a complete reformation and regeneration of the Oakwoods district. But, it is said, there was more smoke than fire as a result of his work. And it was here that his trouble in the church began. Some members were in favor of his radical reform methods—others were not.

Later Mr. Bullock made himself unpopular by supporting Harlan for mayor and later by his connection with an excursion of Christian Endeavorers to San Francisco in which connection he was accused of being a paid agent of the railroad company.

BIG CYCLE EXCURSION.

It Will Arrive in Benton Harbor Next Sunday.

Next Sunday Benton Harbor and St. Joseph will entertain a big crowd of distinguished Chicago wheelmen who have planned an excursion here that day. They will represent the members of the Chicago, First Regiment, Lincoln, South Side, Illinois, Woodlawn and Thistle cycling clubs, the Englewood wheelmen, Bankers' Athletic club and Lake View Clarendon wheelmen.

The wheelmen will come over on one of the Graham & Morton steamers and Sunday afternoon they will hold a field meeting at Benton Harbor and at the finish of the last event they will embark for Chicago. James Levy, of the Chicago cycling club, has the active management of the excursion.

THE YUKON CLIMATE.

Not Such an Awful Country After All.

In 1895 the Yukon river froze up on October 28 and broke up on May 17. Forty mile river broke up on May 11. Few reliable observations have hitherto been taken in this interesting region, but some years ago observations taken at Fort Yukon showed an average January temperature of 27 degrees below zero; February, -26; March, -11; April, 13; May, 41 above zero; June, 53.5; July, 66; August, 39; September, 39; October 22; November, -11; December, -18. Those figures indicate an intensely cold winter, followed by a short spring, opening in May, and then a decidedly warm summer from June until the beginning of September, when a short-lived autumn soon changes to winter again. We have not at present any reliable data relative to the snowfall and rainfall of the country.—Seattle Daily Times.

ARE VERY MAD.

A St. Joseph Politician Discusses the Postoffice Contest.

Fred A. Woodruff exhibits a remarkable indifference concerning the St. Joseph postoffice. While his opponent is at work with hammer and tongs Fred is lolling in the cooling shade of the maples at Beechwood Point, Paw Paw lake.

"Fred has probably been assured that more energy on his part to acquire the office is unnecessary," explained a St. Joseph republican to THE NEWS today. "Congressman Hamilton, when he was up here the other day, and was entertained by Woodruff's friends, probably placed his seal upon Woodruff's application and advised the executive clerk that further exertion was a waste of time."

"If such is the case," continued the speaker with considerable force, "Congressman Hamilton's career as a statesman will be brief. It has come to a pretty pass that the patrons of this office must lie down and in mute silence submit to the dictations of two or three men who have wriggled themselves into a position where they can manipulate the political machinery of the county to their liking and to their personal gain. When men like L. J. Merchant, who has fought in the fiercest of local political battles and remained true to republican principles, must be turned down to give place to a man who has already had his 'turn' at the public test, the situation has reached a critical period and the time has arrived when a forcible exhibition of the citizens' feelings in regard to such unfair and arbitrary methods should occur."

The storm extended over a wide district. The hail stones were as large as eggs. It was the worst storm in the history of this section.

LAKE INFORMATION.

The Government Will Establish a Bureau for the Collection of Navigation Facts.

GOOD THING FOR THIS PORT.

Uncle Sam Will Then Learn That This Harbor is the Most Important on the East Side.

WASHINGTON, August 11.—It has been decided to establish a permanent bureau of the treasury department to be devoted to the collection and publication of information regarding the commerce of the great lakes.

Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has appointed George Tunell of Chicago as statistician in charge of this work. Mr. Tunell has devoted much time to a study of the great lakes, and is considered especially qualified for the work which he has undertaken. His political views were not known to Mr. Vanderlip and the appointment was made solely on account of his ability and without solicitation.

The first work of this new official will be included in the annual report of the bureau of statistics to be issued this fall and to be transmitted to congress in December by Secretary Gage.

It will embrace detailed and comparative reports of the navigation at all lake ports and of the nature of the commerce handled by lake vessels. It will include also a large number of facts about lake commerce that will be of value not only to shippers at lake ports and vessel men, but to the general public as well.

In discussing this new project Mr. Vanderlip said: "I found when I came to Washington that no special attention was paid to the lake commerce in any of the departments of government excepting in the hydrographic branch of the navy department, where technical information of interest to mariners was collected and published. It has been almost impossible to find in any department of the government statistical information about the great lakes, notwithstanding the vast commerce that is carried on those waters."

MINING IN ARIZONA.

A Gallen Man Thinks it Beats the Klondike.

J. P. Jones, former postmaster at Galien, and now a resident of Phoenix, Ariz., was in the city yesterday and in conversation with a NEWS representative he said: "As a field for mining and prospecting for mines I think that Arizona offers a surer if not a better thing than Alaska. In every direction from Phoenix gold may be found in paying quantities and the chief difficulty is the scarcity of water to wash the dirt."

"Phoenix, the capital of Arizona, is a city of 10,000 people, electric lights, two gas companies, electric cars and fine buildings. Times have been dull there as elsewhere, but when cash is scarce trading is carried on with gold dust. Since I have been in Arizona I have never seen any coin smaller than a nickel in circulation. Nothing is sold for less than 5 cents or a multiple of 5."

"Some of the miners have left our state for the Klondike but the more successful ones are satisfied with the Arizona diggings and are getting rich. The climate is such that a man can mine the year round."

Mr. Jones belongs to a company which buys and develops mines and fortune is smiling upon him. He will return to his town, which is 600 miles from civilization, about October 1.

MISERIES' BORDERLAND.

There's an intangible, but nevertheless definite line that exists in life. Step beyond its border and the gloom of pain, the poison of despair stares you in the face. Health is the sunny land of life, disease the gloom. It is asserted that the mysterious border once crossed there can be no returning. In many, many cases it is true, provided an unskillful practitioner has the individual in charge. Not so with Drs. B. S. & Co., the eminent specialists of Muskegon. Under their manipulation and scientific discoveries, and their application, all functional and organic troubles and their consequent evils are banished perfectly and permanently. The victim, the sufferer, regains his health and strength and becomes again a sound being. Their marvelous skill and ability is not the result of chance or "luck," but the legitimate growth of preserving application and unrestrained research. Their cures are vouched for and substantiated by living proofs, by the healthy beings who have been restored through Drs. B. S. & Co.'s skill.

These renowned physicians will visit St. Joseph, Lake View hotel; Tuesday, August 24; Benton Harbor, Hotel Benton, Wednesday, August 25; Coloma, Teeter hotel, Thursday, August 26; in the private parlor of the hotels.

New York, Aug. 11.—The New York anarchists are in excellent spirits over the assassination of Premier Canovas. Herr Most said: "This despot got what he deserved. Canovas was the greatest persecutor of anarchists ever known in Spain. He hunted them like rats. I don't think it is settled yet that an anarchist killed him. The Cubans, the republic and the Philippians had just as much cause for complaint as the anarchists. It's a wonder that this hell bound did not get killed long ago. There must be something in the climate that makes Spanish tyrants so cruel." Claus Timmerman, formerly editor of Die Brandfackel (the fire-brand), said: "The assassination is the best and more correct answer to the Barcelona affair, where hundreds of anarchists were crippled, imprisoned and tortured. Canovas deserved it."

United States Senator William M. Stewart, of Nevada, discussing the assassination said: "Considering the fact that Canovas was responsible for the Barcelona trials and sustained Weyler in his barbarities in Cuba, it is very evident that the anarchists got the worst man they could find to wreak their vengeance on. The Barcelona trials and the Cuban atrocities are the legitimate parents of anarchy, on the principle that crime produces crime. The test of the absolute barbarity of a nation is its administration of criminal law. Any country that would compel persons, by torture or otherwise, to incriminate themselves, is barbarous and not entitled to recognition in the family of nations. That was what Spain did under Canovas."

August Lott, a member of the Anarchist Singing society, said: "Canovas inaugurated a regular reign of terror. He kept every intelligent man in the country under the eye of the public. Every honest man should rejoice at his death. But I am sorry it came so quickly and painlessly. He should have been boiled in oil and flayed alive. He deserved it."

Executed by Electricity.

Danemora, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Frank C. Conroy, the Ogdensburg wife-murderer, was executed by electricity at Clinton prison yesterday. He killed his wife because he was jealous, and committed the crime in the presence of two little children.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. The Popular and Useful House Jacket.

Volumeinous robes, collarettes, bosoms and short capes are worn in great profusion. They are of the thinnest and lightest materials possible and very much trimmed and ornamented. Tulle, gauze, mousseline de sole and net are the accepted goods for their composition. Lace, flowers, ribbons and ostrich tips forming the decoration, spangles being also frequently added. For young and slender women the robe, just long enough to pass around the neck, fastening in front with two ribbons, a buckle or a bunch of flowers, is desirable. If it is wished to have something fall over the front of the bodice, the bos may be lengthened, tapering toward the ends, or a plaited strip of mousseline de sole—or if edged with lace—may be fastened at each side of the neck. A ruche which encircles the neck should be fuller and thicker at the back than in front. It is of course composed of a number of strips, and each should be shirred separately and sewed, one against another, on a ribbon a little larger than the exact measure of the collar. In order that the ruche may not flatten down behind, a knot of ribbon, the erect coques of which are stiffened with wire, is placed at the back of the neck.

If it is desired to convert the ruche into a light covering for the shoulders, this may be done by adding to the lower edge a double frill of plaited mousseline de sole 8 or 9 inches wide. The mousseline de sole should be very full, and the lower ruffle may be of a color, the upper one being black.

Corsets continue to be finished with high, erect collars, very much trimmed with ruches, especially at the back, and stiffened with whalebone to keep them in place.

The illustration given today shows a house jacket of sky blue surah. It is fitted behind, but falls in straight, round plaits in front, being shirred at the top in yoke form. There are six organ plaits altogether, and the outer two on each side are ornamented with horizontal bands of white lace insertion and finished with a lace ruffle at the bottom. There is a large collar composed of white lace and sky blue satin ribbon and turn back cuffs to match. The neck and wrists are edged with lace frills.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

His Bread Upon the Waters.

Fifteen years ago Carrie Burch was a servant girl in a California household where William F. Hastings was also employed. The girl became ill and had to leave, but had no money. Hastings loaned her $200, and she went away. The years rolled by without the $200 being returned, and Hastings had forgotten the occurrence when he received a letter from a barrister in London stating that an estate of $75,000 had been left him by a Mrs. Hall, formerly Miss Carrie Burch of California. Hastings could hardly believe what he read, but he has the money now, and for his generosity to a strange girl years ago he has become independently rich. When the girl left California, she went to Australia as a nurse and there married a retired English merchant, who died some years afterward, and the widow then returned to London and lived there until her death.—Exchange.

A Good Reason.

The general passenger agent of one of the Chicago trunk lines received a letter from a Kansas man the other day requesting a pass for himself to Chicago and return. There was nothing about the letter to indicate that the writer had any claim whatsoever to the courtesy he requested, but the railway man thought that perhaps the Kansan had some connection with the road in some way, possibly as a local freight agent. So he wrote back, "Please state explicitly on what account you request transportation." By return mail came this reply, "I've got to go to Chicago some way, and I don't want to walk."—Exchange.

A Bakeshop Machine.

One of the latest appliances for use in a bakeshop oven consists of a machine which takes the whole meat and grinds it, mixes water with it and kneads it into dough ready for the oven.

THE board of health met last evening and listened to the report of Health Officer Tutton. During the month of June there were 130 cases of measles in the city and for July 36. From the first of January 1897 to the present date
there have been 190 cases of contagious diseases in the city and out of this number only one death has resulted.
This record speaks well for the physicians of this city.

It is becoming a common practice for societies to advertise The Evening News boys band without making any arrangements for the band. The band was advertised to go to South Haven today but as no arrangements were made of course the boys did not go.
Such advertising besides being dishonest is unjust to the band as it gives the public the idea that the boys do not keep their engagements.

Yellowstone Lake.

"There is an individuality about lakes. Perhaps the most striking thing about Yellowstone lake is its high altitude. It is up among the mountains and clouds in Yellowstone park nearly a mile and a half—7,741 feet—above where the sportive summer girl sits on the beach at the Atlantic ocean while the lazy wavelets ripple about her dainty toes. But as high as it is the mountains rise higher still by thousands of feet. In a solemn, owl-like fashion they blink down at the lake, and the lake blinks back at them. These mountains are well defined peaks, and cones, and turrets, and nearly all are named. Some of them are in this way redolent of the old explorers, the men who first braved the perils and difficulties of an unknown, untrodden wilderness. Such are Colter peak and Mount Doane."
The above is taken from "Wonder-

And I don't know the woman who stole her away. I should have preferred that they had taken any of the others.

"Have you copied her epitaph yet, or sketched the tomb?"

"No, I have had no good opportunity, but I should uncommonly like to do so before I go, and I shall not have time tomorrow."

He spoke wistfully, and the dean laughed.

"Here, then," said he. "I see what you are fishing for. Take the keys. This large one opens the little north-west door, whence a staircase leads straight down to the back of the chapel. You can't make a mistake, only do not fall down the broken stairs, do not lose the keys, do not forget to lock up after you and, above all, don't set the place alight, or I'll never forgive you."

Roland promised everything required of him and went off.

Roland sought and soon found the little door to which he had been directed and from which the steps led straight down into the crypt of the cathedral. The key made but little noise, even in the great stillness, and Roland, groping his way down, soon found himself at the back of the little chapel and in great darkness. Closing his eyes for awhile to accustom them to the change, he could soon distinguish the outlines of the arches and moved forward quite confidently.

Some might have thought the hour and place eerie, but Roland was neither nervous nor superstitious and boldly advanced to where the moonlight, finding oblique entrance through the grating in the roof and near one of the great windows of the cathedral above him, shone clearly and brightly over the tomb.

It has been said that he was neither nervous nor superstitious, but suddenly he stopped short, and the throbbing of his own heart seemed for the moment to startle him, for here, just before him, within touch of his hand, was the great table tomb and extended upon it, apparently, a recumbent female figure.

Whoever, whether mortal or superhuman workman, had made such an effigy was possessed of no ordinary skill. The exquisite suggestion of repose conveyed by the graceful posture, the arrangement of the sculptured folds of raiment, the beautifully chiseled features, all were alike lovely, and Roland gazed at them long, as if he were literally entranced and not under the influence of some delusion of the senses, some trick of overexcited nerves, which must soon fade away. He fell on his knees on the stepped base of the monument and gently laid his lips on the little white fingers which were so temptingly near him. As he did so a thrill seemed to pass through him and through the figure on the tomb. The delicate eyelids quivered, the shadowy lips parted in a faint sigh, and the next instant his statue was indeed imbued with life and spoke:

"Where am I? Oh, where am I?"

Roland repressed the suggestion that she was reclining on her own tomb and spoke gently and as if her present position were a matter of course:

"You are in the crypt of Carminster cathedral."

The effigy sat up, pressing her cold hands to her now burning temples. Then she raised her great dark eyes to Roland's face.

"I got shut in," she said simply. "I lingered a moment to look at this tomb, because—well, because you were so much interested in it, and the verger never missed me—the pillars hid me. I heard the key grate in the lock and ran and called and banged, but no one came, and, oh, I was so frightened!" She was quivering with cold and shock, and Roland supported and comforted her. "But for you I might have staid here in this awful place all night," she murmured. "It's simply horrible!" she went on. "You wouldn't believe what noises there are when it's empty and no one here. What made you come back? Was it to look for me?" she asked naively.

He told her then how and why he had come back, giving her time to wipe away a few stray tears, which she hoped he did not see and to pull off the necktie from about her head. Then he found her hat for her in a shadowy nook and prepared to take her home.

She was glad of the support of his arm, and the clinging touch of her fingers sent a thrill through him which he seemed to feel long after they had parted.

"I recognised you again at once," she said to him as they ascended the rickety staircase together.

"I, too, remember you quite well. We were fellow tourists or sightseers this morning, and I have thought of you many times since and always as the lady in the gray cloak."

She smiled very humanly.

"My real name," she said simply, "is Joan."

Roland started slightly, and as he pressed her hand at parting murmured beneath his breath:

"By the Will of God, Joan, the beloved wife of Roland de le Fann, Knight and Gentleman."—Princess.

Humble Circumstances.

"I can always tell a novel written by a woman."

"How?"

"She makes the men characters so deadly sentimental."

"Well, I can always tell a novel written by a man."

"In what way?"

"He makes all the woman characters so gentle and obedient."—Chicago Record.

The Sarcastic Nobleman.

"I am sorry, count, but papa says he'd rather see me dead than married to you."

"Inde-ed! Your father is evident-ly an ass—what you call an ass—because he never in his life saw a girl who was so beautiful as you."

ROLAND'S WIFE.

It was scorchingly hot in Carminster one July afternoon. The streets were empty. Even the cathedral rooks were flying, and the only signs of life seemed to be the chatter dimly heard through the door of the quaint old inn.

In the great cathedral it was less sunny, but almost equally close and oppressive.

Roland de le Fann felt as if the heat and dust of centuries were somehow shut into that vast nave and as if historical associations weighed on his tired brain.

He was one of a party being "shown round" the building. Here was the inevitable would be archaeologist, now positive, anon doubtful of his dates, two or three clergymen, a schoolmaster and his class and a few young girls.

In the crypt it was cooler, but damp and musty smelling. Through the heavy oak door passed the weary, but garrulous verger, his chattering flock at his heels. Then began more tiresome discussions about altyes and aquinta.

"This 'ere," said the verger, raising his not too musical voice to drown the talking of the others—"this 'ere was once the private chapel of the De le Fannus. That stone marks where the altar stood. Over here is where Sir Gilbert Archemont defied the abbot in the year thirteen 'undred and fifty. Notice this 'ere dog tooth molding—most perfect example of its kind in England."

"There is finer at Canterbury," growled some one.

"Pardon me, you must mean Lincoln—or is it York that I am thinking of?" said the archaeologist.

The descendant of the De le Fannus turned aside to his sister. She smiled and put her arm through his.

"I am so tired!" she whispered.

"Never mind, dear. We've nearly done, and we could not have left without seeing our old family tomb, so!"

"The Le Fannu tomb," broke in the painting verger. "They date back to 1810. This is the oldest of them all. Notice the rich work round the sides, and, as you see, the figure is missing from the top. It is the wife of old Sir Roland de le Fannu, who died in the 'Oly Land. His wife died of grief three days after the sad news reached her. The effigy is said to have been stolen, though some there are who say that life was given to it and it walked. I don't 'old with that myself. On this side are the tombs of Reginald and Sir Bevis de le Fann."

Roland spoke to the girl next him.

"The effigy," said he, "that is missing from that tomb is the one of all others that I should most have liked to see. She was our great, great—I really cannot say how great—grandmother, and, oh, I beg your pardon. I thought you were my sister."

It was a tall, slight girl, wrapped in a light grayish dust cloak, to whom he had spoken, and who now responded gracefully and with a shade of amusement in her manner.

The sudden transition from the dark crypt to the brilliant sunshine was bewildering. Roland and his sister stumbled along to the monastery ruins, and then, seated on a heap of fallen stone-work, they rested. He was disappointed on looking round for his cloaked divinity to find that she had not followed them.

In Carminster a quiet night succeeds the peaceful day. Roland, sitting by his window, watched the round moon rising behind the fretted spire of the cathedral and was filled with a sudden longing.

His stay in the place had been brief and would end early on the morrow. The sketches he had made were few, and his visits to the cathedral had always been paid in company with others, in the "improving" society of the dean or in that of the unsympathetic verger. What if he were to steal out now, when the parish day was done and the moon shone in the clear sky?

Yes, he would, he must go. The temptation was not to be resisted. He would study tracery and carving under the magic light which made their beauties seem as something unearthly. He would not disturb the other inmates of the house. Quietly as he went the dean, sitting at work in the study, heard him and opened his door.

"Anything amiss, Roland?" he asked.

Roland, half ashamed, confessed his nocturnal ideas to his host, who surprised him by sympathizing with them.

"All means. Our lovely cathedral looks more exquisite than by day."

"I would like," said Roland, taking leave, to have one more look at the old crypt of my ancestors before I go."

White Dome Geyser Yellowstone Park.

"A mile and a half from the Fountain Hotel, and easily reached by bicycle, tourist wagon, or by walking, lies a hidden basin full of nature's caprices. At the entrance, as if on guard, stands the immaculate White Dome. As one approaches, he almost expects to be challenged and asked for a countersign. If such a challenge is given it is in a curious fashion, in the form of a geyser eruption, for the White Dome is a geyser. It is not unlike the Castle Geyser, or the White Pyramid of the Upper Geyser Basin. The geyser is a very white, rather dome-shaped mound, built up from the secretions of its waters, and is the most conspicuous feature of the locality. It is perhaps 25 feet high, with a circumference at the base of 75 or 100 feet. Its eruptions come at intervals of from twenty to forty-five minutes, being somewhat irregular, and the water is thrown to a height of from ten to twenty-five feet."

Miners' "General" Keeps Coffee in a State of Apprehension.

FEARS AN ATTACK BY THE MINERS

Sheriff Has a Big Force of Deputies to Keep the Strikers Out of Town—Bradley
Run Out and Shot At—Besieging Army
Increasing—Other Illinois Strike News—
Dreary Day for the Strikers in the Pittsburg District—Struggle, Various in West Virginia.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—A special to The Republic from Coffeen, Ill., says: Yesterday was a day of feverish excitement in Coffeen. There were fears of an early attack by Bradley and his army.
The guard on the main road was strengthened, but the strikers failed to appear during the morning. While the guards were awaiting the expected approach of the strikers, the miners went to the shaft in twos and fours, but they refused to go below until long after fears of the strikers' approach had been dispipated. Excitement ran high about noon, when a contractor reported to the sheriff that he had seen and conversed with Bradley in front of the home of Rudolph Teufert, one of the strongest strike advocates here.

"General" Chased by a posse.

The house at once was surrounded,
but without a warrant the deputies refused to enter. A guard was kept there all afternoon. At 7 o'clock last night a man answering Bradley's description
was chased by a posse of deputy sheriffs out on the road leading east from town. Several shots were fired, but the fugitive escaped to the woods. An hour later a telephone message from Hillsboro said that he had reached there and was addressing a crowd. He said that he would be in camp in the morning. He will be arrested if he crosses the corporate line. Out at the camp everything was orderly. Mrs.
Bradley, the leader's mother, came in at 3 o'clock with a wagon load of provisions and a whole beef. With her came three wagons filled with potatoes, flour, salt and vegetables and a wagon load of bread. The supplies came from Staunton and Mount Olive.

Reinforcements for the Raiders.

Between midnight and morning 160
men arrived in camp, and in the afternoon forty-six more came. The new accessions came in parties of from ten to twenty-five. Five hundred men now are in camp, and 100 are on the way from towns to the south. Mayor Traylor and the people of Coffeen fear that this means that Bradley is lying low until re-inforcements arrive before marching on the works. The sheriff feared an attack in the morning and the citizens practically slept on their arms.
Fearing that the strikers will be here today, A. L. Mills, receiver of the mine, who is also general superintendent of the Clover Leaf, ordered all coal standing on the tracks here shipped out immediately.

Sheriff Telegraphs for More Men.

Coffeen, Aug. 11.—Sheriff Randle at 10 o'clock last night ordered out 150 armed men to reinforce the guard then protecting the town against invasion.
He also telegraphed to Nokomis for fifty more men. Advices received by the sheriff from Hillsborough state that Bradley is on his way to camp and that fully 200 strikers are coming from Auburn, Girard and other mining towns
to the north.

No Coal for Spring Valley Water Works.

Spring Valley, Ills., Aug. 11.—The miners of this city held a mass meeting on the public square yesterday afternoon. During the meeting a local leader stated that Mayor Nelson had requested him to ask the miners if they would allow enough coal to be dug in Spring Valley to supply the city water works, which will run out of coal in a few days. The motion was made that the mayor could have all the coal he wanted, provided he would go down in the mines and dig it himself. The motion was carried. The question of marching on the Mattheson and Hegel-er mines in LaSalle, which are digging coal for use of their factories, was brought up. The Spring Valley men decided to have nothing to do with it.
There were many miners present from Marquette, Ladd and Seatonville and they are indignant over Spring Valley's refusal to march.

March Proposed on Decatur.

Decatur, Ills., Aug. 11.—It is said that in all about 800 men will come here from seven different cities, and that on Friday a united effort will be made to get 400 Decatur miners to stop work. Sheriff Nicholson says that he has suggested to the coal company that it had better suspend work on the appearance of the outsiders until all indications of trouble were over. The coal company declined to do that. The sheriff is making a list of 100 men and will swear them in as deputies on the approach of the miners. He says all the Decatur miners who want to work will be given full protection.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 11.—Governor Tanner has commissioned B. B. Ray, secretary of the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, to proceed this afternoon to Decatur and watch the miners' situation there tomorrow.

PITTSBURG LOOKS FOR A CRISIS.

May Be Something Happen in That Region
Today That Will Count.

Pittsburg, Aug. 11.—A crisis is fast approaching in the miners' movement
against the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company. The next few days should determine whether or not the strikers' object will be realized. Yesterday's work was not viewed in a disappointing light by the campers at Turtle Creek, Sandy Creek and Plum Creek, yet the happenings were not of the most encouraging sort. To begin with they had to contend with their first spell of bad weather. A heavy rain drenched the camps and prevented the marchers from carrying out their regular programs. At Plum Creek the rain and continued absence of a band kept the men in their quarters with the result that little if any missionary work was undertaken. The storm also had the effect of preventing the march to the Spring Hill mines between Wilmington and Wall Station which are about two hours in the vicinity of the miners' homes.

There was not even ordinary excitement attached to the invasion along Thompson's Run. A summary of the day's development finds conditions
much the same as they were Monday save that the company claims to have made a further break in the strikers'
ranks at Turtle Creek and Sandy Creek.
The Plum Creek mine was running considerable coal, and the number of men reported at work equaled that of Monday. The failure to hold a meeting at "Camp Isolation" was another disappointing feature of the day, and the men are loudly clamoring for the presence of the officials. Italians who struck camp Monday are expected to do much good among their fellow countrymen at work in the Plum Creek mine, but active labors are being withheld until today, when it will be positively known whether or not the men propose remaining away from the pits.

WEST VIRGINIA REPORTS VARY.

Strikers Succeed in Getting Boggs' Run
Mines Closed—Different Elsewhere.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 11.—Wheeling was the scene of invasion from Ohio
early yesterday morning. A small army of Ohio striking miners from Wheeling Creek on the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling road, numbering 137, marched through the city to the Boggs Run mines. The Boggs Run men got wind of the invasion and only six or eight arrived to go to work. These were taken in hand by the visitors and persuaded to sign a paper to stay out. Later in the day the other Boggs Run men were seen and agreed to join the strike. This makes the suspension practically complete in the Wheeling district railroad mines. The strikers proceeded up town to the Belmont and Riverside mill mines
and made a demonstration there.

A committee of the strikers and one representing the mill miners met and it was decided that the question of the men
joining the strike would be determined by President Ratchford. If this course is pursued it will throw thousands out of work. The action of the Bellaire peddling banks in shutting down may be rescinded, as the Ohio strike leaders are not in favor of shutting down the mill banks. The Wege miners have decided to join the strike today. This and the Heatherington mines supply steamboats with fuel. A scarcity of fuel for the boats is now at hand.

Chaleston, W. Va., Aug. 11.—Meetings were held last night at the Edgewater, St. Clair, Forest Hill and Diamond mines. At each place the miners decided to return to work today. They say they have lost faith in the strike leaders.

Over 200 coal diggers from the mines in the vicinity of Montgomery joined the strikers yesterday. The strikers formed a procession at Montgomery and went up the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway as far as Mount Carbon, where they are encamped. There were about 400 in the procession. Twelve mines in the Kanawha valley are idle
and the number of men that quit work in the Kanawha valley within the last three weeks is about 800. All of the mines on New river, with the exception of the Royal, are still running.

Southern Indiana Mines Closing.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 11.—The marching miners, notwithstanding the court injunction issued against them, lined up on the public highway leading to the Ingle mines early in the morning, and as the men came to work at 5 o'clock they were again appealed to by the strikers, with the result that the few who had started to work decided to join the strikers. The entire force is now out, and the marchers are devoting their energies to the other mines of the city.

Mine Strike in Michigan.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Aug. 11.—The entire underground force of the Crystal Falls mine struck for higher pay yesterday morning. Superintendent Bennett induced the men to return to work until he could place their demand before the company. The mine is operated by Corrigan, Kinney & Co., of Cleveland.

REPUBLICANS OF KENTUCKY.

Nominate Bailey for Appellate Clerk and Oppose Existing Civil Service Reform.

Louisville, Aug. 11.—James G. Bailey, of Magoffin county, clerk of the court of appeals, was the nomination made by the Republican state convention yesterday. Contrary to the expectations of many the convention, which was held in Music hall, was entirely harmonious in its work. There was an idea in some quarters that there would be a bitter fight between the Bradley and Hunter-Todd factions, but the generalship of the party leaders on and off the floor of the convention prevented the anticipated clash.

The state and national administrations
were endorsed and civil service was opposed; that is, the convention favored
a new deal all round every four years.
There is a provision in the resolution in favor of reappointment or promotion, however. The convention was a quiet
one. There was no enthusiasm to speak of, the only real applause coming when the speakers referred to civil service reform.

FARMING IN THE SOUTH.

NO DROUGHTS, GENIAL CLIMATE AND AVAILABLE SECTIONS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO SETTLEMENT BY NORTHERN FARMERS.

Almost every variety of grains and grasses grown in the North can be successfully grown in the South, but the crops that give best results for the money invested and labor expended are fruits and vegetables. Cotton is no longer King in the South. This year's condichange may possibly have been brought about by the large number of Northern farmers that have located at so many points on the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley
railroads in the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, and carried with them the

as practiced in the North. No country in America can compare with southern Mississippi and northern Louisiana for the cultivation of fruits and vegetables, and the time is not far distant when this locality will supply
the early markets of the North and Northwest. All who contemplate a change of location should investigate this favored section, to aid in which, send for a free copy of the ticultural advantages of the country traversed

GEORGE TAYLOR'S GRATITUDE.

He Expresses it With Presents to Ex-Sheriff's Wives

George Taylor, serving a life sentence at Jackson for the murder of Miss Mary Conley, of Niles, very kindly remembers the wives of the Berrien county sheriffs who had him in custody while his trial was in progress.

Last evening Ex-Sheriff Sterns received a cage containing two pretty and sweet-singing canary birds. They were sent from Jackson prison and cards accompanying them indicated the donor to be George Taylor. One of the birds was a gift to Mrs. Sterns and the other, George Taylor requested, should be given to Mrs. Charles Whitcomb, wife of the ex-sheriff.

Messrs Sterns and Whitcomb both held the office of sheriff while Taylor was confined in the county jail at Berrien Springs and for the many courtesies he received from the wives of these gentlemen Taylor felt a disposition to express his gratitude.

HE STOLE A MARCH.

Attorney Cady Too Swift for the Cement Sidewalk Ordinance.

A few days ago the council passed an ordinance which will compel the builders of all sidewalks hereafter to construct the same of either cement or brick. The ordinance does not go into effect until twenty days after its passage. Mrs. Rockwell, a non-resident, owns the residence where Dr. Votey resides, corner of Pipestone and Cherry streets. Attorney Cady is her agent. The walk in front of the residence was two feet below grade and was worn out. Mrs. Rockwell did not care to put $75 in a cement walk at the present time and as soon as the ordinance was passed her agent, Mr. Cady, got a handle on himself and hired teams to fill in the ground and he laid a board walk at grade. The new walk was completed yesterday and the attorney has saved his client from the necessity of building a cement walk at this time.

The attorney made one mistake however. Instead of using new plank throughout he had the best strips of the worn out walk used again and in a year or so he will try to repair his work when the street commissioner will order the cement walk. The attorney evidently never read the history of the new wine encased in old bottles.

GOVERNOR MAY TAKE A HAND.

Alleged Persecution Going on in Schoolcraft County.

LANSING, Aug. 11.—Deputy Attorney General Chase has been ordered to Manistiquette to investigate certain act of Schoolcraft county officials. When C. W. Dunton was prosecutor of that county he incurred much enmity by his prosecution of violators of the liquor law. Last winter he was arrested charged with perjury based on a bill of costs which he taxed and swore to a couple of years previously. Mr. Dunton had rectified the error, however, as soon as it was discovered. Deputy Chase investigated the case at the time and dismissed it.

Ten days ago another warrant was sworn out for Dunton's arrest on the same charge. It is alleged that the action was prompted by malice and the governor has instructed Deputy Chase to make a thorough investigation and if warranted begin action against Dunton's persecutors.

Deputy Chase will also investigate the case of Rev. Theodore J. Tonneson of Manistiquette, who claims that he is being persecuted and who has asked the governor to interfere.

were really different from those of the present day and were evidently more durable. Panels of wood used to paint on—enamels and oils—also panels of paper mason, and occasionally they were formed by gluing three thicknesses of canvas together. These panels were usually about 12 inches long by 7 inches wide. The ancient used liquid wax instead of oil to set the colors, which were made not from vegetable, but from mineral substances and were of marvelous brilliancy and permanence—blue powdered lapis lazuli, green malachite, red oxide of iron, etc. The colors were laid on in patches somewhat after the fashion of a mosaic, and afterward blended with an instrument called the ostrum, which appears to have been a lance shaped spatula, long handled, with at one end a curved point, at the other a finely denticled edge. With the toothed edge the wax could be equalized and smoothed, while the point was used for placing high lights, marking lips, eyebrows, etc. The final process, which gives the name encaustic to this kind of painting, was the burning in of the colors. This was done by the application of a heated surface to the panel, though George Ebers believes that in Egypt the heat of the sun was probably all that was needed to complete the artist's work.

The Eye of a Child.

Who can explain or fathom the wonderful instinct of the child? Lying in the arms of its nurse, in its carriage or elsewhere, its large, round, wondering eyes roam over a sea of faces till suddenly its features break into a sweet smile; a baby laugh dances in its eyes, perhaps the tiny hands are extended, and the little body gives a bound as though it would throw itself through space. What has happened? It has recognized a friend, nothing more and no less. It makes no mistake. Wiser, perchance, in that moment of inexperienced helplessness than it will be years afterward, when the world and its inmates have been studied in the light of instruction and experience, its love offering is seldom if ever mistakenly presented. By what power is this child love directed? By what subtle influence does it see and know what in after years it may strive in vain to discern?—Good Housekeeping.

Life In the Suburbs.

"I suppose you know Jinks, who lives out in your suburbs," said the new acquaintance pleasantly, in an effort to be agreeable.

"I know of him," returned the suburbanite coldly, "but the fact is we don't move in the same class."

"No?"

"Oh, dear, no. I go home two trains ahead of him at night and come down one train later in the morning."—Cleveland Leader.
